

WHITING FLOOD LOCAL MARKET

OVER 320,000 POUNDS LANDED
HERE OVER WEEK-END FOR FREEZERS—FEW MACKEREL

The traps bulged with whiting over the week-end when 13 Cape traps took a total of 320,550 pounds, most of which was dressed and then frozen, while the large ones were filleted.

The fish furnished work along the waterfront, and by the looks of things, the supply will continue to be great all through the week.

The whiting went to the following: Cape Ann Cold Storage, 92,250 pounds; Pew branch Gorton-Pew, 90,450; Gorton-Pew Fresh Fish department, 78,000; Producers Fish company, 45,000; and Slade Gorton branch Gorton-Pew, 14,850.

Three seiners had 64,000 pounds of mackerel, two of which with 34,000 pounds, went to Cape Ann Cold Storage, while the third with 30,000, was taken by Slade-Gorton's. One small trawler with 3000 haddock, landed at Murray & Tarr's. The gill netters, 11 in number, had small trips, only totaling 31,500 pounds of cod for two days' lifts.
